

FISHERMAN'S FIESTA... Pat Elsenbach, Janie Jones and Peggy Hampton help prepare nets for third annual Fisherman's Fiesta to be held in San Pedro 2 to 11. The four-day event will include Blessing of the fishing fleet and parade of 65 gayly-decorated fishing boats, representing largest fleet in nation, competing for $5,000 in prizes.

Marine Art Featured in San Pedro's Annual Fiesta

Special attractions under an acre of Big Top during the 3rd annual San Pedro Fisherman's Fiesta, September 8-11, will include many displays of marine art and industry. It was announced this week by Robert Hopper, fiesta-carnival chairman. Original oil and water color paintings by prominent local artists and hobbies and craftwork, all representing sea studies, will be featured by the San Pedro Art Association.

Marine, fishing and allied businesses will also be showcased with 54 booths allocated for exhibits, Hopper said. Booths will also be set up for many carnival and midway shows operated by civic, service, church and fraternal groups.

Large Audience Attends Church Service.

One of the largest audiences of the summer last Sunday attended services at the Lomita Presbyterian Church, conducted by Dr. B. J. Reemtsma, temporary pastor. Dr. Reemtsma stated that he expected a near-capacity audience this Sunday when his sermon topic will be "The Heights of Life."

A series of special mid-week services to be conducted each Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. will be initiated this week, according to Dr. Reemtsma. Action was taken at a meeting of the Board of Elders last week to accord the younger people of the church more recognition during worship service. Result of this action is the organization of a youth choir. Also under consideration is the organization of a youth orchestra, which would take part in the evening service.
